Speech Title: “Finding Your Place In Graduate School and Beyond”

How do you find your way through grad school? How will you get the most out of your degree? What’s next for you once you graduate? How can you get there? If these questions stress you out, you’re in good company! In this talk, Jennifer Polk, PhD, will connect the dots between graduate school and beyond. She’ll cover how to identify your strengths, seek opportunities that align with your values and interests, and launch the life and career you want after it all.
